Housing all of the physical education classes the P.E. building is C.S.U.F.'s most scenic area.

This $14.4 million structure was started in mid-April '92 to add classrooms and faculty offices.

A grassy area next to the bookstore/commons adds to the relaxed atmosphere of the campus.

A Different View

Final construction is completed on the addition to Mc Carthy Hall which will house new labs for the Natural Science and Mathematics.

A sight from the 57 freeway, the Humanities building stands out from the surrounding buildings.

CSUF Students In Action

Whether in class, in the University Center, or on the campus enjoying the scenery, CSUF students are unique.

Below: Reviewing that last couple of pages before a class, this student finds a quiet corner on campus.

Above: For a quick appointment on campus, students find parking in 30 minute lot off of Nutwood a great solution.

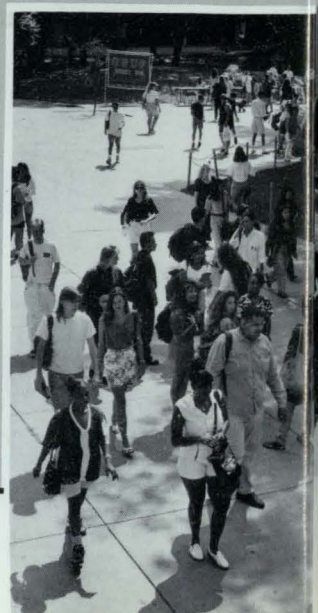

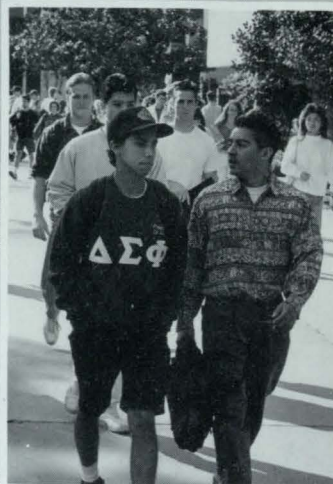

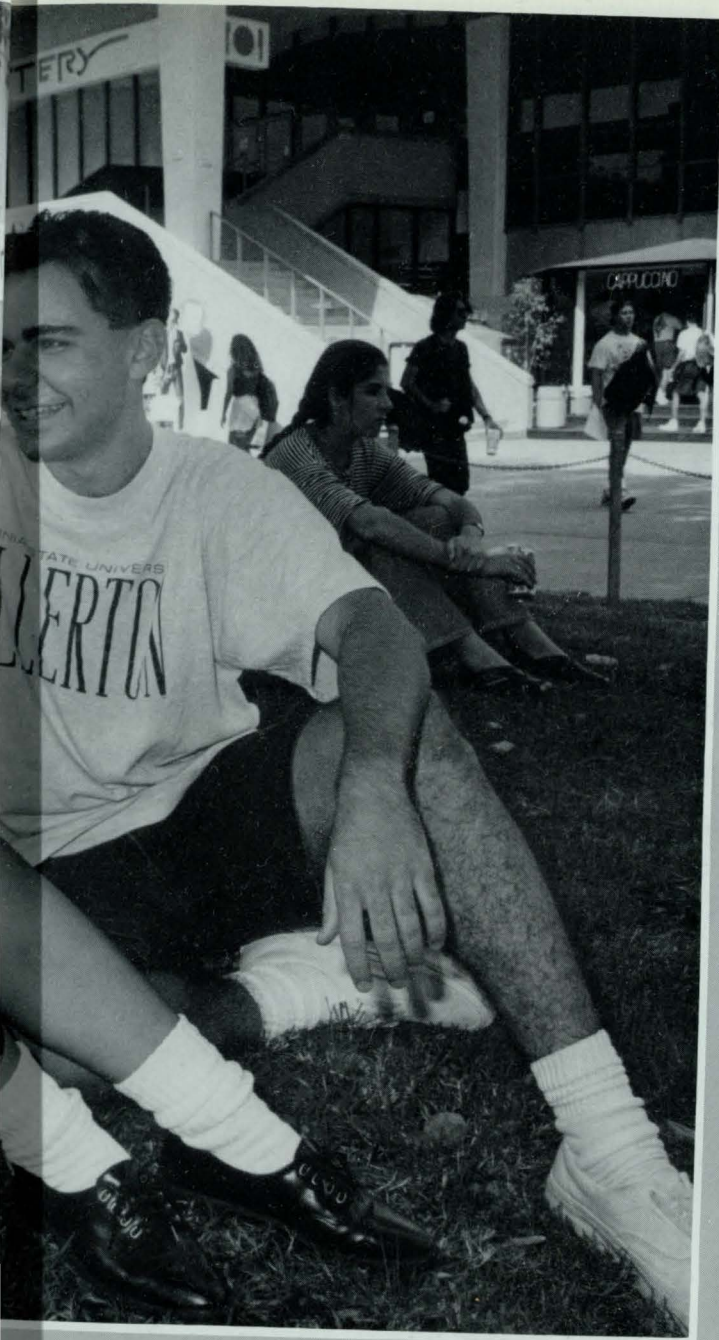

A bird's-eye-view from the new U.C. reveals students between classes just after the first rain.

On her way to the Coffee shop this student rushes to get her cup quickly so she's not late to the first day of classes.

On their way to the University Center these Titans head toward the Pub.

At the end of the first day of school these gentlemen start the hike to their cars in lot A.

The Opening Act

During their break these students enjoy the early Autumn weather under this tree in front of the bookstore.

These students gather together on the first day of school to catch up on old times and to eat their lunches.

Homecoming 1993

Fall Celebrations

A Twister competition? A Dunk tank? The Blue Bonnets in concert? What's going on? They were all part of the activities planned for Homecoming Week '92 at CSUF. The Twister competition and the dunk tank were part of the lunchtime activities offered Monday through Thursday, October 5-8 to encourage students to participate in Homecoming Week.

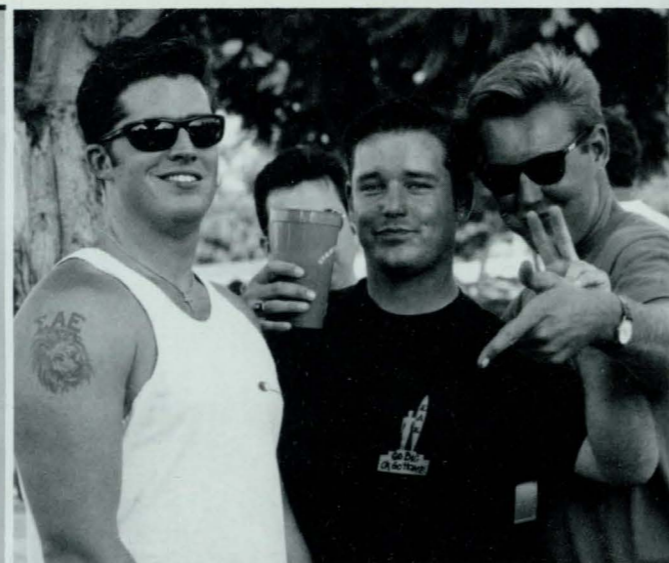

Homecoming activities continued into the evening on October 8th with The Blue Bonnets, an all-female quintet, featuring guitarist Kathy Valentine, ex-GoGo's bass player, when they played at the Titan Pub. The crowd in the Pub seemed receptive to The Blue Bonnets' brand of alternative, rock, and blues.

This year the Deans hosted the annual pre-game Tailgate party and sent invitations to the 800 graduates of the class 1967 for a 25th reunion. Food was provided by alumni Brian Fairley's Brian's Barbeque, but many people did the traditional picnic routine. A post-game party was offered at the Fullerton Hofbrau.

Topping a difficult week for the Titan football team with the Oct. 1st resignation of longtime coach Gene Murphy and the threatened elimination of the entire football program, was the game loss of 49-3 to San Jose State.

End Of An Era

Band members are here to support the team as well, this horn player shows his true colors.

A definite Fullerton fan this Titan campaigns for his favorite nominee for the Homecoming King.

These friends forever just don't want to stop the partying, even though the game has already started.

Always ready for brotherhood these SAE's enjoy the pregame tailgating party as they get ready to root the Titans to a victory.

Never short of a party these fans enjoy what seems to be the last tailgating party for a while.

These Snow Terrorists are looking forward to a good game, but to an even better snow season.

Camper and coolers ready these tailgators take great pride in the Cal State Fullerton football squad.

Solemn Celebration For CSUF's Fourth President: Dr. Milton A. Gordon

The President's Investiture

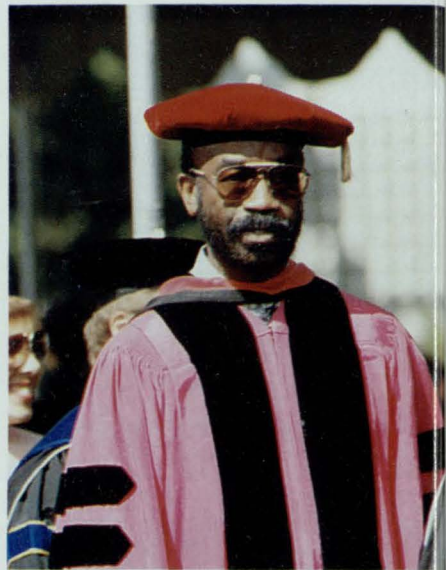

For only the fourth time in the history of California State University, Fullerton, a President has been named and invested. This solemn celebration, held on Commencement Lawn, took precedent over classes, which were cancelled, allowing all students and faculty the opportunity to see California State University Chancellor Barry Munitz invest Milton A. Gordon with the authority and responsibility of the office of the President. Gordon, having already served two years, was certainly aware of those duties.

Also a part of the investiture was the awarding of an honorary doctorate given posthumously to Don Karcher. The fourth recipient of this honor, Karcher, who passed away May 19, was known for his involvement in the university including many fundraising efforts.

Marring the celebration was a "silent protest" of a very small group protesting the expenditure of $25,000 for the investiture.

Below: Professor Soraya Coley from the department Human Development and Community Services walks the Processional.

Committed To Excellence

Serving over 100,000 graduates, CSUF has a tradition of excellence in Business, the Arts, and Communications as well as offering fine courses in Science and Humanities.

Current Events Current Events Current Events Current Events Current Events

SEPTEMBER:

Prime Time Goes Political: When TV's favorite fictional feminist Murphy Brown became a single mom, Vice President Dan Quayle attacked her for her lack of "family values."

America's favorite General, the now retired Norman Schwarzkopf (known to his supporters as "Stormin' Norman") introduced his autobiography: "It Doesn't Take a Hero."

This month in medicine: the first effects of the near-nuclear meltdown in Chernobyl showed up in children down wind from the 1986 disaster.

Whoopi Goldberg joins the lineup of latenight comedians who try the talk show circuit. Instead of the usual parade of people, Whoopi concentrates on an individual interview.

August's Hurricane Andrew, the costliest natural disaster in U.S. history, leveled neighborhoods and left 300,000 homeless who now must pick up the pieces of their lives and move on.

Victims from war-torn new nations Bosnia and Croatia, and Romania are seeking asylum in Germany. The German government expects at least 130,000 new refugees by the end of the year. This ethnic influx is a major factor in the rise of Neo-Nazi incidents causing problems there.

OCTOBER:

America's Pastime Dominated by Foreigners?: The Toronto Blue Jays defeated the Atlanta Braves in the World Series.

The Iceman Cometh: A 5,300 year-old wanderer of the Stone Age has been discovered from the melting Similaun glacier high in the Alps. He is known to be the world's most ancient intact human. Scientists are pleading for a chance to examine the body, and women have inquired about the possibility of bearing his child.

It's Debatable: President George Bush, Arkansas Governor Bill Clinton, and Independent candidate Ross Perot attacked the issues and each other during the Presidential Debates.

NOVEMBER:

Malcolm X: The other black martyr, Malcolm X, still haunts our conscience. In his latest movie, Director Spike Lee turns his talents towards banishing the myth of Malcolm X as the proponent of the violent overthrow of the establishment.

Back in the USSR: Democracy, however primitive, has come to the USSR. Now its leader is contending with the adversaries of nature, economics, and politics, and the outcome has immense implications for the rest of the world.

DECEMBER:

And they didn't live happily ever after: In a formal announcement made to the House of Lords,

Prime Minister John Major revealed what the tabloids here and in England had been talking about for months: Princess Diana and Prince Charles call it quits in a "formal separation."

Feed the World: Operation Restore Hope begins as US Marines land in Mogadishu to feed the starving Somalis and police the warlords who have been stealing the limited resources of this famine-stricken land.

You're Excused . . . : In a chilling decision made Christmas Eve, lame duck President George Bush pardoned former Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and five others previously convicted on charges in the Iran-Contra scandal.

JANUARY:

Been There, Done That: Star Trek enters a new orbit; this month marks the premier of the spin-off: Deep Space 9 - another entry for trekkies.

Retirement here I come: President Bush says "good-bye" to a country he's lead for four years while newly-elected President Clinton moves into the White House with wife Hilary, daughter Chelsea, and cat Socks.

Our Fair Lady: Legendary actress, UNICEF spokeswoman, and Nazi Occupation survivor, Audrey Hepburn died of colon cancer at the age of 63.

Blood Bath: In former Yugoslavia, "ethnic cleansing" is the chilling name given to the hostile Serbian movement to rid their nation of Muslims and Croats.

Three-peat: The Buffalo Bills reached Super Bowl XXIII for the third time in as many years, and disappointed Bills fans at Pasadena's Rosebowl, watched them walk away, once again, without a victory.

FEBRUARY:

Clinton's Opening Blunder: President Clinton's first nominee for Attorney General, Zoe Baird, withdraws from consideration and admits to breaking the law by hiring illegal aliens to provide child-care.

We Had a Gay Old Time: As the Armed Forces protest, the public waits to see how far President Clinton will go in lifting the ban on homosexuals in the military.

We Want In: HIV positive Haitian refugees seek asylum in America. Entrance into the US is denied to them by the Coast Guard and President Clinton.

Summoning Sacrifice: In his first State of the Union address, President Clinton begins to define "shared sacrifice" and calls on Americans to 'donate' (meaning higher taxes).

Waiting for Armageddon: The Branch Davidian compound in Waco, Texas, begins a siege killing several agents of the FBI and the Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms Division.

MARCH:

Tower Terror: At 12:18 PM on a snowy Friday afternoon, a massive explosion rocked the foundation of the Twin Towers of the World Trade Center in lower Manhattan.

Rent it on Video: Oscars' theme, The Year of the Woman, was ironic as once again few films offered much for or by women. Major awards were as follows: Best Supporting Actress: Marisa Tomei (My Cousin Vinny); Best Supporting Actor: Gene Hackman (Unforgiven); Best Actress: Emma Thompson (Howards End); Best Actor: Al Pacino (Scent of a Woman); Best Director: Clint Eastwood (Unforgiven); Best Picture: Unforgiven.

Kung Fu deja vu: Brandon Lee, 28 year-old son of the late martial arts star Bruce Lee, was killed in a freak accident while filming The Crow.

Ya Say You Want a Revolution . . . : Boris Yeltsin makes a bold step by calling for a nation-wide referendum to replace the current Parliament that was appointed while communism still reigned in the USSR. Also up for consideration is the replacement of their constitution.

Disney announced the opening of a new professional Hockey team and arena: The Anaheim Ducks who will play at The Pond, a multi-use facility ½ mile east of Anaheim Stadium.

APRIL:

The Jury is in: After 40 hours of deliberation in Rodney King's Federal Civil Rights trial, the jury came up with a split verdict: Police officers Koon and Powell were found guilty of infringing on King's civil rights; rookie officer Wind was acquitted early on and officer Briseno testified against Koon and Powell. Decisions were handed down nearly one year to the date from last years' civil trial where officers were all found not guilty. That verdict caused over three days of rioting, looting, and other civil unrest.

Play Ball!: The Professional Baseball League added two new teams: The Colorado Rockies (their home is Denver) and The Florida Marlins (their home is Tampa).

Waco Standoff: April 19, 1993. The Terror in Waco came to an end on April 19, after a 51 day standoff ended in an explosion of flames. The cultists set fire to the compound in which they had been dwelling after FBI threw tear gas inside to drive them out. 86 Branch Davidians died including 17 children. Only nine escaped and did not perish within the inferno.

Late Night: It was announced on April 26, that Conan O'Brien would be the new host of Late Night as David Letterman decided to move to CBS to get the 11:30 time slot opposite Jay Leno on NBC.

Maples Surprise: Marla Maples surprised Donald Trump with news that she's pregnant but: Will she sign a prenatal prenup?

Arkansas Tragedy: 3 young boys, each around 8 years old, were murdered in West Memphis, Arkansas and found in a drainage ditch 18 hours after being reported missing. Still there are no leads to the mystery slaying.

MAY:

One for the Road: Cheers says so long- The last ever Cheers show said goodbye on May 20. The 98 minute show included the marriage of Rebecca Howe to a guest-starring plumber and the return of old waitress Diane Chambers.

Celebrity Stalkers on the Loose: Tennis star Monica Seles was stabbed at a tennis match; Actress Andrea Evans was pursued by a mental patient; and Kathleen Krueger, the wife of Texas Senator Bob Krueger, was terrorized for 9 years.

The Battle for Baby Jessica: The birth mother wanted Jessica back and the court ruled in her favor.

So Long Joe: Ex-49er's quarterback Joe Montana says so long to San Francisco and hello as he flies off to the Kansas City Chiefs along with ex-Raider Marcus Allen.

JUNE:

Hit or Miss: Arnold Schwarzenegger's 70 million dollar movie Last Action Hero proved to be a BIG miss this summer while Steven Spielberg's 65 million dollar Jurassic Park proved to be a HUMONGOUS hit while only in the third week had grossed 171.10 million dollars.

Custody Battle: Woody Allen lost custody battle with Mia Farrow for kids Dylan (7), Moses (15), and Satchel (5).

Pepsi Scare: There were 50 reports in 23 different states of Pepsi containers being contaminated with syringes. It all began in Tacoma, Washington and ended with 13 arrests and 3 others claim they fabricated stories.

Hockey Mania: The L.A. Kings took the lead by winning the first game of the finals but could not beat the Montreal Canadiens, losing the next four games.

3-PEAT 3-PEAT!: For the third year in a row, the championship Chicago Bulls pulled off yet another NBA Finals win, this time over the Phoenix Suns and Charles Barkley.

Nixon Tragedy: At the age of 81, former First Lady Pat Nixon died of lung cancer on June 22. She was buried at Nixon Library on June 26.

Dodger Men: Roy Campanella (71), once a Dodger catcher and Hall of Famer, died June 26 from a heart-attack. Also the tragedy of a heart-attack, former pitcher and announcer Don Drysdale was taken from us.

Wacky Wedding Pair: Actress Julia Roberts married country-western singer Lyle Lovett in Marion, Indiana on June 27th.

Sickness in Navajo: A baffling illness has taken 11 lives on a Navajo reservation. Some say it could be related to a virus found in rodents?

To The Class Of 1993:

It is my pleasure to extend congratulations to you for having successfully completed your degree objectives this year at California State University, Fullerton. You should be proud of your hard work, dedication and accomplishments that have brought you to this point in your life journey.

I am certain that just as you have left your mark on Cal State Fullerton you will do so in all your future endeavors. You have had the opportunity to attend a university with a quality faculty that is committed to teaching a diverse student body.

As you join over 100,000 alumni of Cal State Fullerton, I hope that the knowledge and skills you gained here will enrich your life and bring further rewards to you and to society. I encourage you to remain in close contact with us and to assume a leadership role in the community and the CSUF Alumni Association.

I look forward to hearing about your future successes and welcoming you as active alumni participants in the life of Cal State Fullerton.

Sincerely,

Milton A. Gordon

The people at Cal State Fullerton are of a special breed, each with his or her different calling, whether it is to be a Special Ed. teacher at Valencia High or an engineer at McDonnell Douglas. The education and knowledge gained here at CSUF is equal to no other we have ever received.

Each of us from his or her own little world is trying to assimilate (or escape) from the ever conservative Orange County, trying to get past the many separations, divisions, and obstacles that will face us as we leave here. This is where we learn acceptance; this is where we've grown.

Sports

With the building of a new sports complex one would think that the enthusiasm for Titan athletics would be at an all time high. But once again money became the issue and not the students. Fall of 1992 brought the end to Fullerton football due to even more financial difficulties. Other programs may have benefited but students, players, alumni, and the community have all lost out. With the loss of the football team, more concentration was given to the other sporting teams. The rest of the athletic programs all worked harder and started to receive the support they all deserved.

Right: Coach Gene Murphy took advantage of the state's "golden handshake" and took early retirement at the conclusion of the 1992 season. Murphy came to Fullerton in 1980 and built the program into a championship mode (1983 and 1984) before budget cuts and overzealous scheduling produced three consecutive losing seasons.

Top: First quarter action at Titan Stadium on Sept. 5 as Cal State Fullerton hosts Cal State Northridge in the inaugural football game in the new facility.

Above: Quarterback Trendell Williams races into the end zone with the first Titan touchdown in Titan Stadium. It tied the game with CSUN, 7-7, and Fullerton went on to win 28-7.

Right: Running back Arthur Davis and a would-be tackler exchange blows to the face mask in 1992 football action.

Football

It was definitely a season filled with highs and lows for the CSUF Football program. For coach Gene Murphy though, the roller coaster ride that has become synonymous with Titan Football came to an end after the 1992 season. During his thirteen year coaching span at Fullerton, Murphy has seen a lot of growth and change occur amid scrutiny and many losses.

With a final record of 2-9, the program bid farewell to CSUF. But even in this low, Murphy accomplished a milestone achievement. In the opening game of the season, the new stadium was christened with a 28-7 win over CSUN. It was events such as that that brought over 8,200 fans through the 1992 season.

However with a power start like that, the Titans couldn't pull off a winning season. In their final home game the Titans lead off with a strong start but had a tough finish, falling to Utah State. As they approached the final game of the season, they tried to pull off maybe just one more win for their coach but their attempt failed against the UNLV Runnin' Rebels in a score of 33-16.

So although Coach Murphy did not end his tenure with a win, he did leave behind many milestones, thus the end of the Titan Football program and Gene Murphy's roller coaster ride in Fullerton. His ability and many services will be greatly missed.

Volleyball

Above: No. 6 Rachel Wittliff goes for the dump over her opponents block as her teammates set up for defense.

Right: Mary Ellen Murchison, Women's Volleyball Coach, is only in her second year with Fullerton's program and is hoping for a better season next year.

Far Right: Outside Hitter Lisa Parbst was voted All-freshmen and was also selected to second-team All-BWC.

The Cal State Fullerton Girl's Volleyball Program is still in the works. Two years ago, under threats of suspension, and a 10 year plan to fully establish gender quality, the Woman's Volleyball program resumed under the new coaching of Mary Ellen Murchison. Due to the threat of suspension the nucleus of the team went elsewhere and for the past two years, the team has been in a battle to stay alive in its conference.

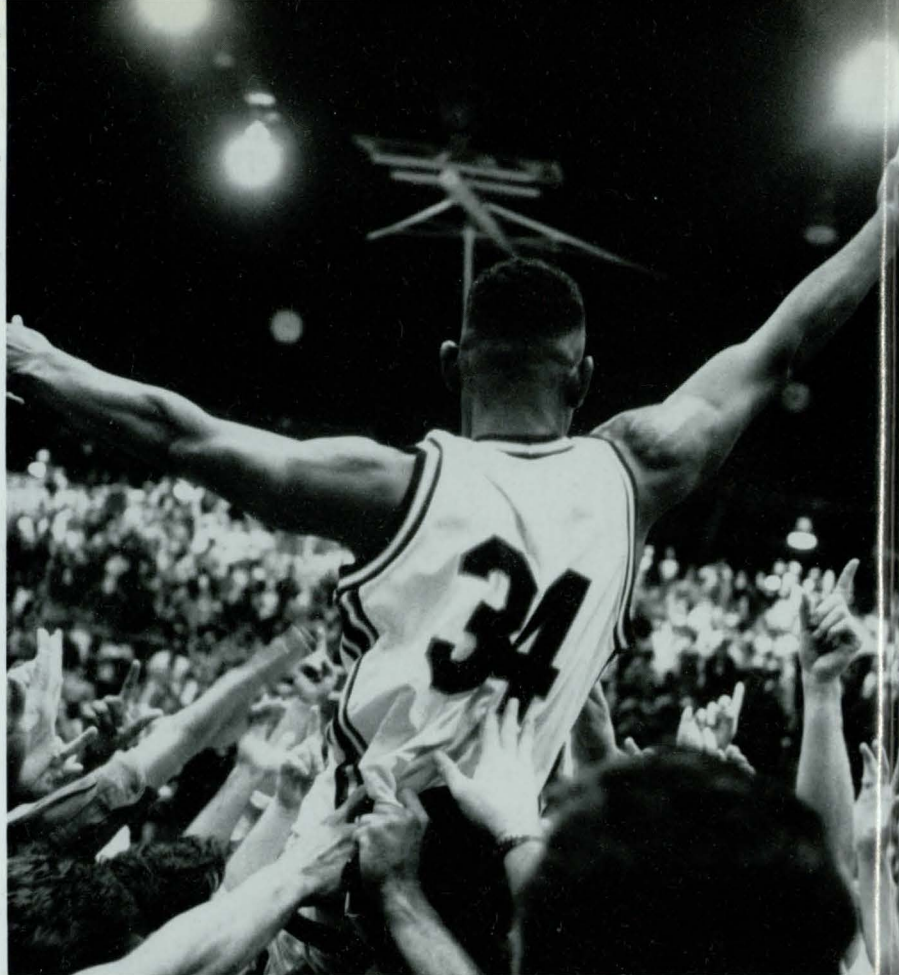

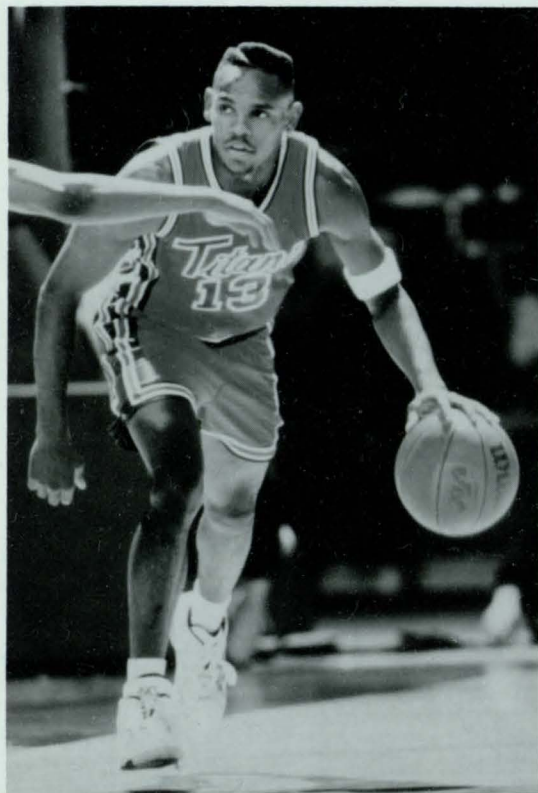

The team's record, 1-27, showed how much the team is in need of some perking up. They tied for ninth place in their conference and are hoping for brighter skies in the future. Freshmen standout, Outside Hitter, Lisa Parbst was voted All-freshmen and also Second-team All-BWC. Coach Murchison took over the crumbling program and hopefully she will be able to pull the program out of its slump in the near future.

Below: Heidi Robertson, #13, gets herself and her teammates pumped up after her kill brings her team closer to winning the match.

Under the coaching of new headman Brad Holland, the Titans had a great '92-'93 season. In fact, in their 11th game of the season, the men had their best conference record (7-4) since 1982. This kind of record though is not surprising when you look at the team's four starting seniors. These four men have put countless hours of hard work and intensity on and off the court. Coach Holland expected a great deal from all of his players, and from them was gracefully met. Each of the starters made their way to the top this season by averaging in double figures throughout the entire season.

Bowen was the team's top scorer in 10 of 11 games. The team was led in field goal percentage at .560 (70 of 125) by senior Kim Kemp. Individually, the players made career highs this season. Williams' made his first three-point shot at the buzzer to win over UNLV. With their strong dedication and a fierce desire to win, it's easy to see why the Titans had such a successful season.

Men's Basketball

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

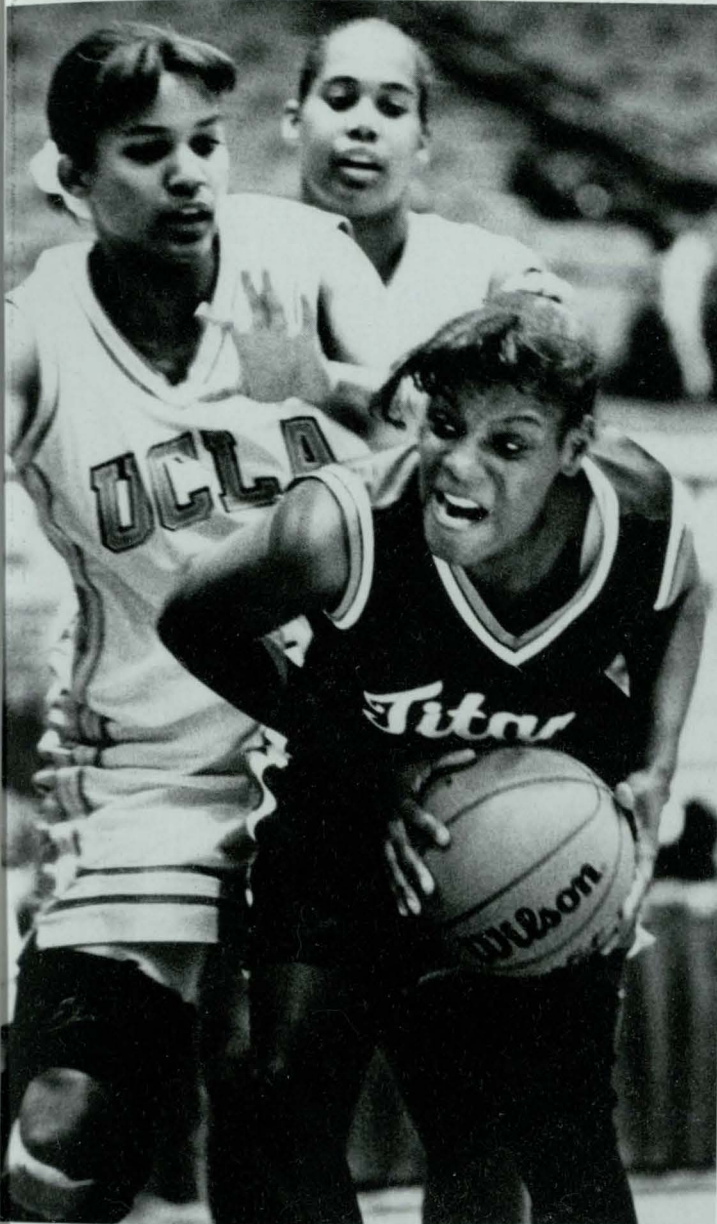

Although the Cal-State Fullerton Women's Basketball team didn't show it in their final stats (8-19), the eleven Lady Titans had a season filled with winning spirit. Visible all over campus and especially in the Physical Education building, these women personified Titan pride.

Led in scoring by Allison Jackson, Shefonda Colbert, Heidi James and S. Bradshaw, the Lady Titans toughed out the difficult season and tried to remain focused. With a total of 518 points and an average of 19.2 points per game, Jackson was by far, the shining star among the Titans. In fact, the closest scorer to her was Bradshaw at 315 points total, and a per game average of 11.7.

Above: Along with pitcher Ricabal, second baseman Jeremy Carr also made 1st Team BWC and Team CB A-A.

Baseball

For Cal State Fullerton, baseball season is always very exciting and worthy of attention. This year the Titans were going for their third national title but were stopped in Austin, Texas, where they finished third in the regional tournament. This was a big year though for Coach Augie Garrido as he became only the tenth Division 1 coach to register 1,000 victories when the Titans beat San Jose State, 12-1, on May 7. In his 18th season at Fullerton and 25th overall, Garrido again had his team in the national Top Ten rankings.

The Titans placed second in their conference, bested by Long Beach State at home on April 16-18 to lose the BWC title. The team finished 7-8 to fall from No. 2 to No. 11 in the national polls. At the regionals, Fullerton beat Maine and McNeese but fell to the Trojans twice. Various team members including Powell, Ricabal, Millan, Carr, Parisi and Banks won various All-American awards for their efforts. Powell made 2nd team Baseball America and Team USA. Way to go Titans! Hopefully next years team will enjoy as much success as years past teams.

Left: Pitcher Tiffany Boyd received recognition and was voted 1st team All-BWC along with DeWalt.

Below: Coach Judi Garman became the nation's first coach to win 900 games on the college level (includes 211 victories at Golden West J.C.).

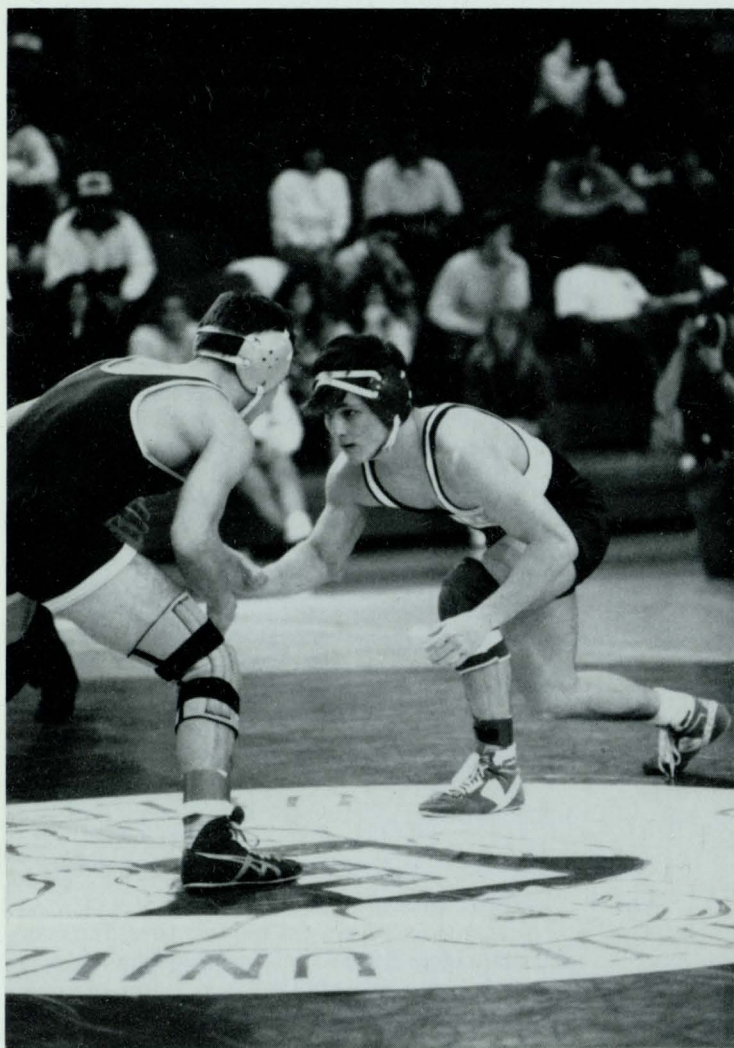

The Titan Softball Team finished in a tie for first this year which goes to show what a crazy season the team had this year. The team fell out of the national rankings for the first time in program history but won 21 of their last 24 games to gain NCAA field. It was an unforgettable year for coach Judi Garman as she won her 900th game of her career.

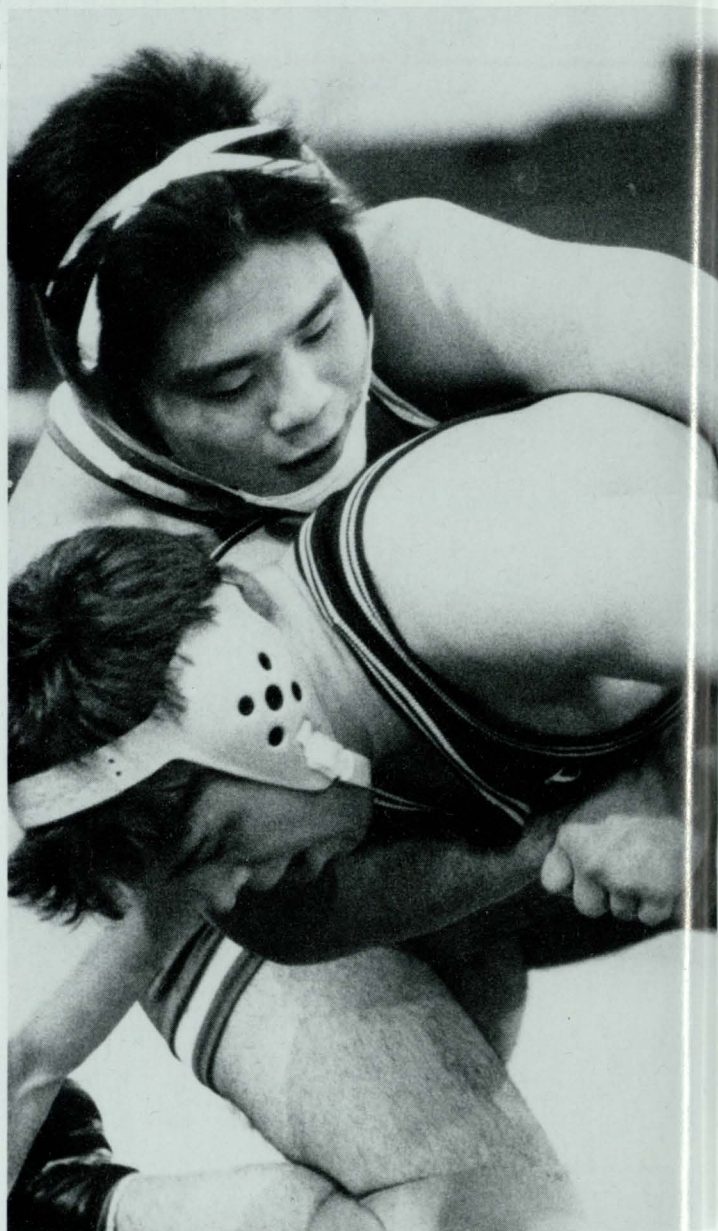

A strong finish gave the team a share of the BWC championship and qualified them for NCAA championship competition. They got a tough regional draw, losing in two games to defending national champion and eventual 1993 runner-up UCLA.

Many Titans also received awards for their excellent playing abilities. Among them, shortstop Denise DeWalt was BWC Field Player of the Year and also qualified for 3rd team NSCA and 1st team CoSIDA Academic All-American. Next year the lady Titans will be on the hunt for 1st place and will be looking forward to face those nasty Bruins.

WRESTLING

"Our goal this year (was) to qualify as many athletes as possible for the Nationals and to finish in the top 15 in the nation," said CSUF coach Ardehir Asagari. Well, for this program, the hard work and discipline finally paid off.

The Titan Wrestling team sent eight members to Nationals and came back with three National Champions. But the largest accomplishment came in the smaller package! 118 lb Senior Michael Grubbs came back from Nationals in Aimes, Iowa an All-American Wrestler. Grubbs was definitely a leader on and off the mat: he was one of this season's team captains and named CSUF's Big West male selection for Scholar-Athlete, with a 3.77 gpa as a Finance major. This wrestler not only achieved Asgari's goal, but took it past it's limit.

Above: Strength and skill are definitely the underlying principles of a good wrestler, as displayed by Lazlo Molhar.

WOMEN'S GYMNASTICS

For coach Lynn Rogers, Cal-State Fullerton Gymnastic's program is one of the most successful in near history. For the past 17 years, Rogers built and sustained a strong program. This year, however, proved to be a landmark with his 200th team win (Jan. 8 vs. Stanford) as head coach.

But, Rogers was not the only strength of this year's team. In fact, if it wasn't for assistant coaches Julie Goewey Garcia, Tim Garrison, and Taunia Rogers' remarkable skill and enthusiasm, this year's team wouldn't have made it as far as they did.

Proving that age and experience aren't everything, Juniors Celeste Delia and Karina Mills held the seniority on the team which also included five freshmen and one sophomore. These women used their strength, determination, and grace to reach the top: the Big West Conference championship held this year in the Titan Gym. Celeste Delia also had a personal triumph: winning the Gymnast of the Year the second season in a row.

Soccer

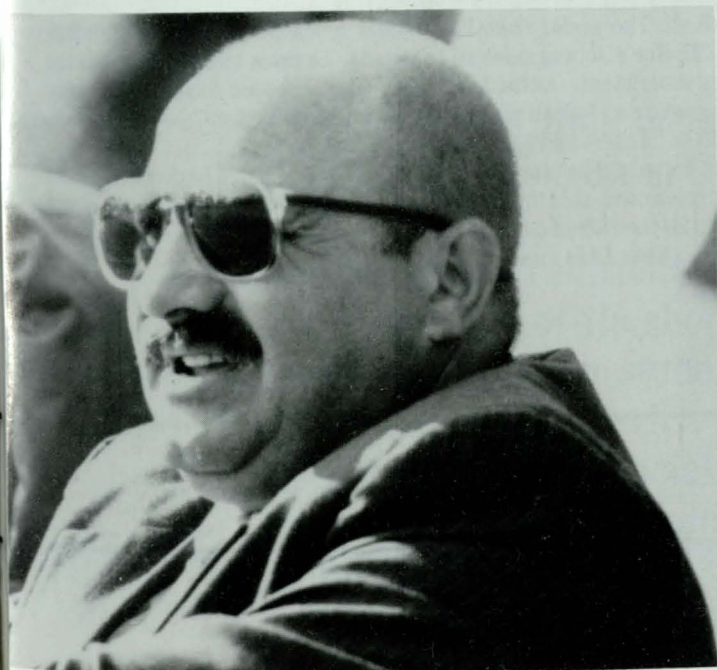

The Titan Soccer Program enjoyed its best season of Coach Al Mistri's 12-year tenure as the Titans and UCLA shared the inaugural championship of the new Mountain Pacific Soccer Fed. Both teams had 6-1 records in conference and the Titans were 12-6 overall.

The entire 1993 lineup will return for next years season led by forwards Eddie Soto and Rick Rodriguez as well as goalie Mike Ammann. Soto made All-America, second team as well as First-team All-MPSF/

Pacific Division. Also making First-team was Ken Hesse. Second-team honors went to Ammann, McDonnell, Brown, and Rodriguez.

Due to last year's playoff loss at Washington in OT, the Titan's were denied an NCAA bid. Look out for the Titan's to come back hungry for a chance at the NCAA bid next year.

1992-93 Athletic Year In Review

The 1992-93 athletic seasons proved a landmark year on several fronts at Cal State Fullerton. The long-awaited Titan Sports Complex was placed into full operation, three veteran coaches passed significant milestone and the university became a leader in implementing gender equity in intercollegiate athletics.

The $14 million multi-venue athletics facility played host to on-campus football and soccer in the multi-purpose stadium and showcased a nationally prominent baseball program in an intimate, spectator oriented baseball stadium. An all-weather running track, renovated tennis courts and improvements to the existing Softball Complex also were part of the project, which was constructed through a unique partnership among the Marriott Hotel, the city of Fullerton and the university.

Traditional successes in baseball, softball and women's gymnastics continued. Augie Garrido became only the tenth Division I baseball coach to register 1,000 victories when the Titans beat San Jose State, 12-1, on May 7. In his 18th season at Fullerton and 25th overall, Garrido again had his team in the national Top Ten rankings. The Titans' bid for a third national title was stopped in Austin, Texas, when they finished third in the regional tournament.

Softball coach Judi Garman became the nation's first coach to win 900 games on the college level (includes 211 victories at Golden West Junior College) when the Titans beat UNLV on May 7. A strong finish gave the Titans a share of the Big West Conference championship and qualified them for NCAA championship competition. They got a tough regional draw, losing in two games at defending national champion and eventual 1993 runnerup UCLA.

Women's gymnastics Coach Lynn Rogers, like Garman the only head coach his sport has known at Cal State Fullerton surpassed the 200-victory barrier (on Jan. 8 vs. Stanford) on his way to Big West Conference Coach of the Year honors. His young team peaked to win the Big West championship meet in Titan Gym and junior Celeste Delia won Gymnast of the Year honors for the second season in a row.

Soccer coach Al Mistri enjoyed the best season of his 12-year tenure as the Titans and UCLA shared the inaugural championship of the new Mountain Pacific Soccer Federation with 6-1 records. Mistri returns his entire lineup for 1993 led by All-American forward Eddie Soto and standout goalie Mike Ammann.

A 10-year plan to fully establish gender equity was set in motion as the women's volleyball program resumed after threats of its suspension. Failing to survive for 1993-94 was football, which could no longer afford to play at the Division I-A level despite the new but still relatively small stadium. Plans are in place to resume football in 1994 at a lower division on a "cost containment" basis. The 1992 Titans christened the new stadium with a 28-7 win over Cal State Northridge on Sept. 5 but won only one more game the rest of the season. Coach Gene Murphy retired after 13 seasons to take advantage of the state's early retirement program. He later resurfaced as the replacement for legendary Hal Sherbeck at nearby Fullerton College.

Individuals sparkled in several sports, both on and off the competitive fields. Prominent were wrestler Michael Grubbs and Delia, who combined athletic stardom with academic achievement.

Grubbs repeated as Cal State Fullerton's Male Scholar-Athlete of the Year. The 118-pounder placed fifth at the NCAA championships to win All-America honors. He was selected to the American Wrestling Coaches Association academic All-America team after winning similar honors in the Pac-10. He also was a third team pick to the GTE/CoSIDA at-large Academic All-American team.

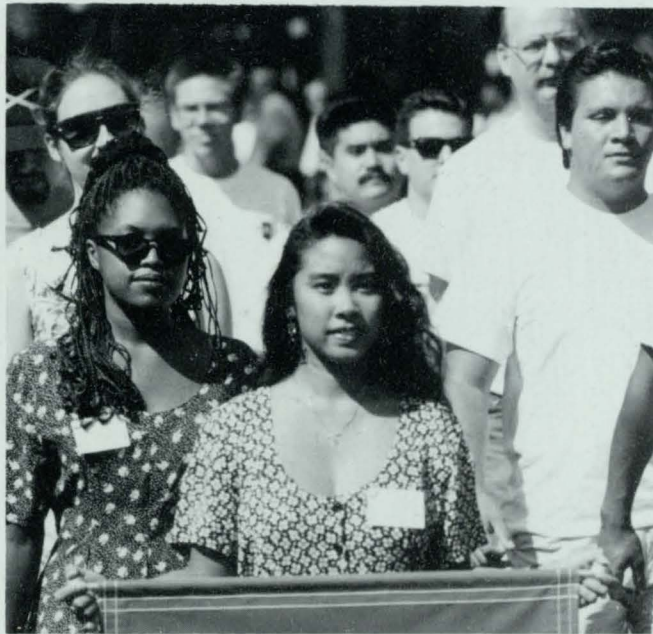

Delia was the Female Scholar Athlete of the Year while winning the all-around title at the Big West championships in Titan Gym. A fall on the floor exercise at regionals denied her a shot at the national championships.

Another outstanding individual was softball shortstop Denise DeWalt. The senior from Bakersfield repeated as Big West Conference Field Player of the Year while leading the league in hitting at .427. She also was selected to two All-America teams — first team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America and third team by the coaches association. Outfielder Dante Powell, second baseman Jeremy Carr and pitcher Dan Ricabal won various All-American honors in baseball and Powell played during the summer for Team USA. Fullerton had a pair of male running champions in cross country titlist Mike Tansley and 5,000-meter king Steve Frisone.

Possibly the most memorable moment of the athletic year came in Titan Gym on March 6. In the final home men's basketball game of the year, the Titans beat nationally ranked UNLV, 84-83, on a last-second shot by senior point guard Aaron Sunderland. Fans stormed the floor and carried senior forward Kim Kemp off the court on their shoulders. It was only the fourth win over the Rebels for Fullerton in 33 tries and the first for rookie coach Brad Holland, who bested the veteran Rolie Massimino.

One of the limitations of being a student at Cal State Fullerton is the fact that it is a commuter school, thus not allowing for the atmosphere of a "traditional" college campus.

But for all of its shortcomings CSUF does allow to allow each student an opportunity of involvement to achieve a more traditional college experience. From social sororities and fraternities to each of our academic societies, the opportunity is there for all students to make their college life a little closer to what they had expected.

Monday, August 31, 1992

"User friendly" certainly describes this portable information booth shown here during the first day of classes. Students can find out directions to classes, things offered on campus, and where to go for more detailed information.

AIDS Quilt: Labors Of Love

The Lesbian/Gay/Bisexual Association on CSUF's campus got an ad hoc committee together called the CSUF Names Project to bring the AIDS Quilt to campus. Displayed in the University Center Pavilion from November 29 - December 1, the quilt is made of squares created by family and friends to memorialize those who have died of AIDS.

Comm Week: Opportunity Knocks!

The theme for the 15th annual Communications Week (held April 27-30) Opportunity Knocks! proved to be true on more than one level. For students interested in communications but undecided on a major, Comm Week was an opportunity to experience various areas in the communications field such as public relations, advertising, journalism, radio/TV/film, and speech communications. For undergraduates who've decided on a major, Comm Week offered opportunities to hear specialized topics such as "Creative Advertising and Copywriting" and "Control of Public Air Waves — Necessary or First Amendment Infringement." For students near graduation, opportunities abounded with panel discussions about graduate school and a chance to meet professionals in the field. And for professors and professionals in the workplace, Comm Week offered a chance to meet with peers and to discuss various issues confronting this area of our society.

Focusing on the challenges facing students as they prepare for and enter the professional workplace, Comm Week is planned, executed and implemented by a team of students from both the Department of Speech Communication. Serving as a prototype for similar programs at other universities across the nation, Comm Week has been commended by the U.S. Congress, the White House, and many local governing bodies.

Two special events, the Brockriede Distinguished Lecture Series and the Alumni Reception, acknowledged work in the communications field. Dr. Bruce E. Gronbeck, an associate professor of Communication Studies at the University of Iowa, was recognized for his impressive research and service record in the communications field. Dr. Gronbeck lectured on "Electronic Rhetoric: The Remaking of American Presidential Campaigns." Walt Baranger, a 1986 CSUF alumni in communications, gave the Keynote Speech at the Alumni Reception. Baranger is the Assistant to the Technical Editor at The New York Times. His duties include systems, and support of Times bureaus worldwide. These assignments have included the Persian Gulf War and the Somalia rescue effort.

Into the Streets

April 17, 1993

Discoverfest, a weeklong opportunity for CSUF organizations to reach out to students through information displays, included Into the Streets, a group dedicated to community service.

Above: Lemon Park in Fullerton provided the opportunity for painting as well as graffiti clean-up. Other sites for community service included: Food Distribution Center, Olivecrest Treatment Center, Alternative Training and Learning Center, Placentia Senior Center, YMCA Child Care Center, and ARK (Foster Kids Center). Volunteers, including (clockwise) David Tusso, Lisa Powers, Eliabeth Manceri, Deanna Hines, Joyce Chang, and Nargess Akhavi, enjoyed Togos sandwiches and soda, games at the University Center, and t-shirts commemorating their service.

Lisa Powers and Deanna Hines man their table while encouraging students to get involved in their communities.

Student Leadership

One of the benefits of an education from CSUF is the opportunity to experience, experiment and participate, and one of the ways some students are doing that is through student leadership. The University Activities Center offers students a chance to improve their leadership skills while serving the various organizations on campus.

One of the great experience offered is the trip to Idyllwild. Leaders from the organizations on campus are taken to a local mountain camp and offer activities and workshops for team building and skill refining.

To honor those students dedicated to student leadership, a reception is held at the end of each semester. Family and friends are invited as well as the Vice President of Student Affairs. To be honored students worked on 3 different certificates requiring up to 20 hours of workshops each. At the Spring Reception, May 20, 1993, over 100 students were honored for completing these certificates.

Soothing The Savage Beast

Although they come to the university to promote their latest CD or concert tour, most of the bands provide something more: an entertaining respite from students' busy schedules.

Below: The lead singer from School of Fish, sings their latest hit "Three Strange Days."

Above: The biggest musical draw was They Might Be Giants; their Sunday, November 22 concert was held in the Titan Pavilion.

Dedication

The addition of a new, upgraded, computerized scoreboard to the Titan Baseball Stadium was a fresh idea presented by the CSUF Alumni Association board members to go along with the new, modern stadium. The scoreboard is a sight for sore eyes as those who have sat in the stadium and watched the old scoreboard know. Passers-by get a glimpse of the scoreboard as well from driving along Yorba Linda Blvd. The new scoreboard was sponsored by the Alumni Association and corporations such as Hyundai, Lite Beer, and Arrowhead water. The scoreboard is a nice addition to the school and is greatly appreciated by the fans, players . . .

Right: Baseball Coach Augie Garrido is amazed by the sight of the new scoreboard and how well the numbers show up in the daytime.

Construction continues on the McCarthy Hall addition fronting Nutwood Avenue. When completed next year, the $26 million facility will house laboratories for the School of Natural Science and Mathematics. Meanwhile, construction began in mid-April on a new $14.4 million building to house classrooms, student and academic support services and faculty offices. Being erected on the north side of Langsdorf Hall with completion also due next year, this building as well as the McCarthy Hall addition were financed through bond issues and are part of the university's master plan.

Graduation

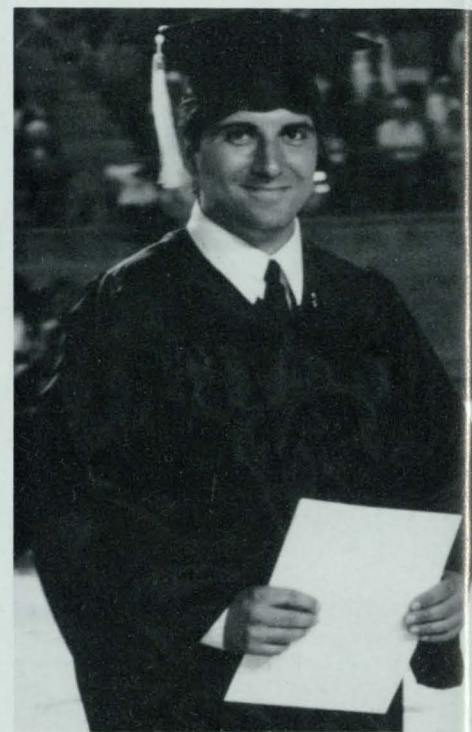

Graduation. The final frontier. Onward and outward on to the next step . . . a career, more school, who knows? But with that diploma in hand the world has opened up yet another door in our lives. Consider the last four, five, or even six years of higher education—what we have gained, how much we have grown. These distances can not be measured. But we all must remember that to stop learning is to stop living. Our growth must continue.

In Memoriam

Dr. Linda McKeever

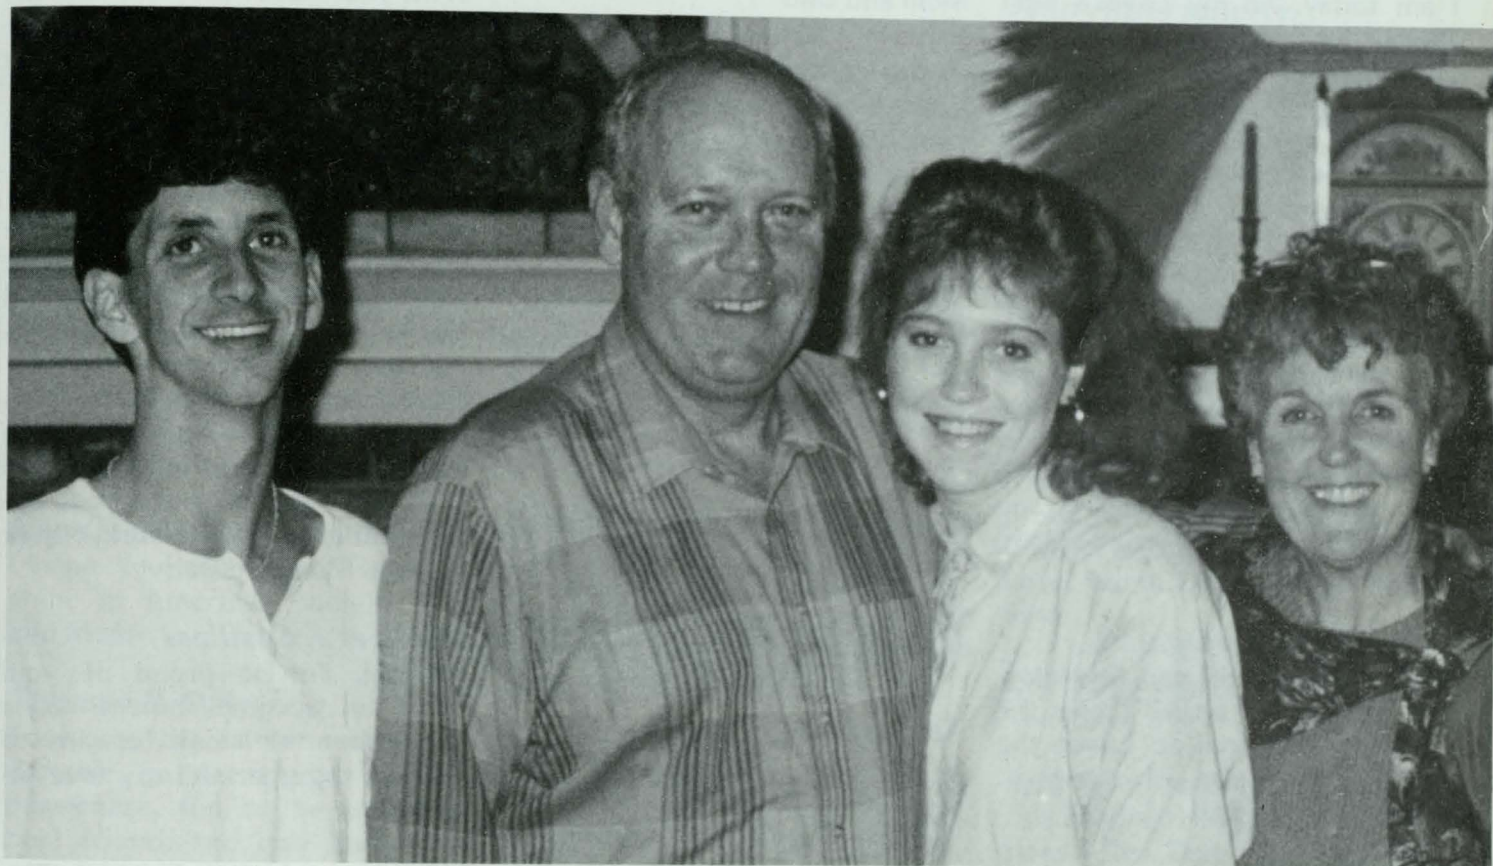

Linda McKeever
Associate Professor of Nursing

Dr. Linda McKeever had been a member of the Cal State Fullerton Nursing Department since 1979. Her interpersonal style, sensitivity and enthusiasm for inspiring learning are some of the attributes that made Linda a special and popular professor of nursing. Dr. McKeever was dedicated to her students both inside and outside the classroom spending countless hours helping students. The knowledge that her door was always open was an invaluable source of strength and support for her students. It was because of these qualities that she was awarded posthumously the 1993 Distinguished Faculty Student Service Award by the CSUF Alumni Association.

Linda McKeever passed away in February this year. However, because of Linda's caring and dedication, she has provided students with some lasting memories that they will take with them as they leave Cal State Fullerton.

In Memoriam

Dr. Don A. Schweitzer

Don A. Schweitzer
Vice President, Academic Affairs

Dr. Don Schweitzer dedicated 24 years to helping make Cal State Fullerton a quality institution. He joined CSUF in 1969 as a professor of psychology and was named dean of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences in 1981. After serving as dean for 11 years, Dr. Schweitzer was appointed vice president of academic affairs in May of 1992.

Dr. Schweitzer was the author of numerous articles and papers in the field of psychology, education, speech and behavioral sciences. Among his many interests was increasing the international aspects of the educational experience for Cal State Fullerton students. He helped establish the university's London Semester program, created a Pacific Rim studies program and nurtured the Japanese language program.

Don had a reputation for being one of the most decent, honest and humane men on campus. He led by personal example rather than by dictate. Magic was his passion. Perhaps that is why Don was able to master the trick of being both boss and friend to the faculty and staff.

Don A. Schweitzer passed away on June 11, 1993, however he left his mark on Cal State Fullerton in numerous ways. He will not be forgotten ... but he will be greatly missed.

Congratulations To The Class Of 1993!

Graduation signifies that all-important growth in one's life when the student becomes an alumnus. I hope your affiliation with California State University, Fullerton will continue well after commencement. As a fellow alumnus, I encourage you to take an active role in developing the future of the university.

The CSUF Alumni Association provides the opportunity for you to maintain ties with the university and to build your career by networking with fellow alumni. Now is the time to take advantage of the many benefits the Association offers you.

Again, congratulations on reaching this milestone in your lives. Your educational experiences at Cal State Fullerton should serve you well in the years to come.

Sincerely,

John C. Millen (Class of '80)
President, CSUF Alumni Association

Colophon

The California State University, Fullerton Titan yearbook is 8½" x 11" printed on 80lb gloss with a sewed binding. The CSUF mascot, an elephant, adorns the styleline embossed cover. The endsheets are transicolor orange. The standard typeface for caption and body copy was Century Book Condensed, 10 point. The standard typeface for headlines and subheads was Korinna, 36 and 18 points respectively. 143 pages were printed and 1100 copies produced.

Thanks go to all those who gave much needed assistance for the production of the yearbook: Patty Boggs, CSUF Alumni Association Membership Development Coordinator; Suzanne Bonner, Student Assistant; Carmela Ocampo, Membership Secretary; L. E. (Buzz) Ponce, Josten's Printing and Publishing Representative; Susan George, Josten's Customer Service Consultant, Visalia; Mel Franks, CSUF Sports Information Director; Gary Mercado and all the staff at Portrait Gallery and the Photographers Lab; Julie Walker; Stephanie Johnson.

Alma Mater

Where the mountains and the oceans lie nearby on either side. Fair and gleaming tall in sunlight stands the Titans home and pride.

Every color, creed, persuasion finds a welcome in these halls. Never languishing unheeded, 'til the love of learning palls. Fair and gleaming tall in sunlight stands the Titan's home and pride.

Summer hills like tawny lions, winter mountains cloaked in snow, land of stately eucalyptus where the mind and spirit grow. Fair and gleaming tall in sunlight stands the Titan's home and pride.
